To best prepare for community college and vocational programs, Seniors are encouraged to continue with a rigorous college-preparatory (A-G) course load, which includes Mathematics, their senior year. Success in these classes could mean having to take fewer community college classes or transferring to a four-year university quicker in comparison to students who did not. Commencing grade 7, school personnel shall assist pupils with course selection or career counseling, exploring the possibility of careers, or courses leading to careers based on the interest and ability of the pupil and not the pupil's gender. Parents or legal guardians are notified so that they may participate in such counseling sessions and decisions. I approve of the following course selections and understand they are binding to the entire school year. I also understand if one of the selections is not available, a similar course will be substituted
