Synchronous learning: is learning that happens at the same time for the teacher and the learners, meaning there is real time interaction between them. The structure of each synchronous class will be at the teacher discretion based on student and curriculum needs.

Asynchronous learning: Asynchronous leaning is learning that takes place without real-time interactions through such structures as independent assignments, readings, and videos.

Daily dashboard time is time for students to handle tasks necessary for AHL, including setting up computer/WIFI, organizing class materials, checking email and other tasks that will help students to focus & fully participate in their classes
