

JUHSD Wireless Network Setup Guide

There is a new SSID called “JUHSB BYOD” that will resolve connectivity issues. Please read on for more information.

“Bring your own Device” Wireless Network:

Most typical enterprise environments require wifi clients to re-authenticate after a set grace period. We set the vendor maximum but after testing and feedback from our staff and students, we determined it was not suitable for our environment.

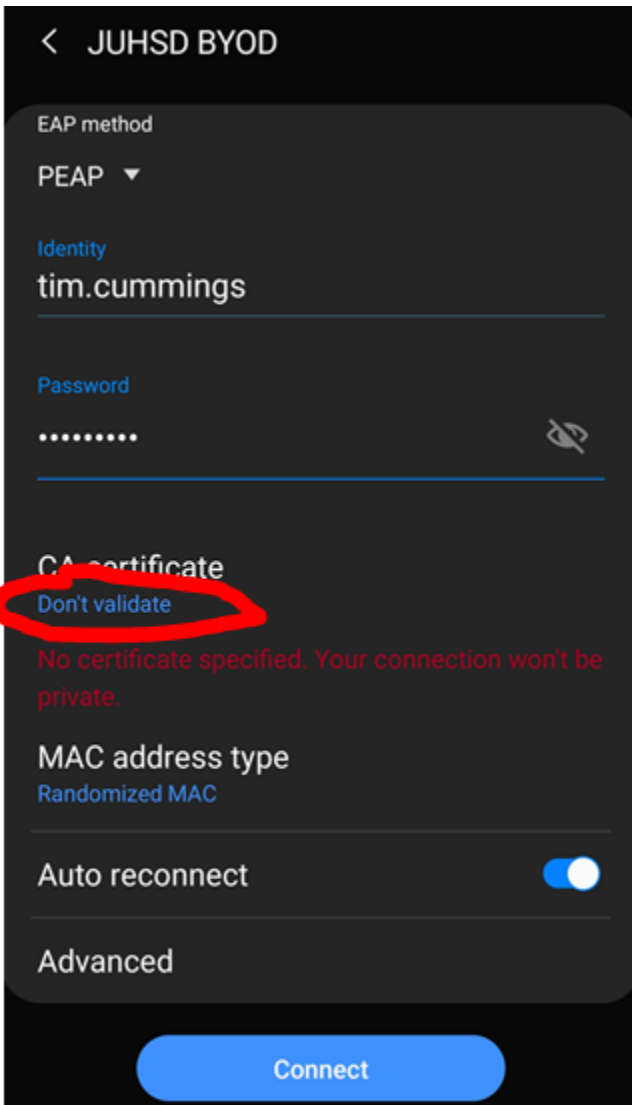

After working with our vendor’s engineers, we decided to use a different authentication method that will allow our clients to connect to the wifi network and not have to re-authenticate using a grace period. In a sense, unless you change your network password or forget the wireless network, you should stay connected. We have set no expiry date.

The new SSID is called “JUHSB BYOD”. Once connected, enter your juhsd.net username and password.
